Jury awards Berry $200,000 in jail fire

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A federal jury on Friday in Biloxi awarded Jack Berry $200,000 in a $2.7 million law suit against Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, and the county's board of supervisors.

Berry, as a prisoner in the Hancock County jail sustained severe burns in an August 1981 fire at the facility.

The case which began last Monday was heard before U.S. District Judge Lansing Mitchell.

"I am disappointed in the verdict. I cannot further comment as there is to be a discussion between counsel and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors concerning a possible appeal," Peterson said Saturday.

Berry who was 18 at the time of the fire, was in jail on charges of burglary and receiving stolen property.

Attorneys Walter James Phillips and Norman Breland represented the county in the case.

"In my opinion there was no negligence on the part of Sheriff Peterson or liability on the county. I personally think the jury felt sorry for Berry because of his injuries," Phillips offered as his only comment Saturday.

During the trial Berry, who was represented by Attorneys Jack Martzell and Jim Nader of New Orleans and Oscar Ladner of Gulfport, claimed he received burns on 60 percent of his body.

The case was heard before a six-person jury.

At the time of the 1981 fire, there were 27 prisoners housed in the old jail which was replaced in 1987.

Motions are scheduled to be heard Tuesday in Hancock County Circuit Court on charges that Berry carried a concealed weapon as a convicted felon.

ST. JOSEPH'S ALTAR—The second Annual St. Joseph's Altar celebration was held by Annunciation Parish's members on Saturday. Anna Augello, right, of Jourdan River Shores and Chalmette, and Antonia Pucco, her mother stand in front of the altar of food. Augello and Estelle Depreo of Kiln are the co-chairmen of the event. Some 20 parishioners spent over three weeks in preparing the special foods for the altar. The altar was blessed by Father Antoine Lynch, pastor, before a meal was held by the parishioners. After the meal, the remaining food was to be distributed to the needy of the area, Depreo said. Several St. Joseph's Altars were held in the area Saturday. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Diamondhead POA directors say no to open meetings

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

There was standing room only Friday at a meeting of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association Board of Directors.

More than 200 property owners crowded into the Diamondhead Community Center for the meeting which is required in the bylaws to be held open.

There was boos and protests when the board of directors voted against all future meetings being open to the public.

But that did not stop the board of directors from also voting against a motion which would require each members' vote on issues be recorded in the minutes.

Board Member Betsy Nolan made both motions. Each motion was seconded but were defeated 7-2.

"I just feel the people who vote directors into the office have a right to know how the person they elect votes," Nolan said.

"Listing how board directors vote on each issue is the only way we can be held accountable to the people who elected us," she continued.

Nolan, is one of the seven board members and four officers who are elected at large by Diamondhead property owners and who serve as the board of directors.

POA officers are Glenn Smith, president; Roy Clark, vice president; Sylvia Pross, secretary; and Wade Stinson, treasurer.

Board members are Jack Boudreaux, Al Doussan, Tommy Heier, Jean Keen, Nolan, Tom Rawls and Fred Roseman.

Elections for four board members and all officers will be conducted in June.

Following the regular business in the meeting, Smith read from a prepared statement, a rebuttal to several issues included in a letter which had been circulated at Diamondhead.

Smith said the board had put in many volunteer hours to conduct the POA's business and did not deserve the "resentment and outright hatred we are getting from some of the POA members."

He also said the letter had many inaccuracies and was a "diservice to the harmony" of the members of Diamondhead community.

The letter stated among other items that plats of the Diamondhead area were inaccurate.

Smith called on a Purcell Company representative to verify his remarks that the plats for the Diamondhead area were correct.

However in discussion it was admitted that the plats did have some POA—Page 2A

Billiot to receive special hearing

By ELLIS CUEVAS

James E. Billiot was returned from Parchman's death row to the Harrison County jail for a special hearing before Circuit Judge James Thomas this week, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said.

Billiot was found guilty of murder in connection with the 1981 Thanksgiving sledgehammer slaying of his stepfather.

He was charged with the murder of Leetown residents Wallace Croll, 53; his wife Audrey Croll 47; and daughter, Cheryl Croll, 14 after his capture two days later by New Orleans police.

Billiot was tried, found guilty of capital murder and sentenced to death in the gas chamber in a December 1982 trial held in Harrison County on charges of murdering his stepfather.

The trial was moved to Harrison after counsel sought a change of venue because of publicity the triple murders received from the media.

Peterson stated, "It is my understanding that Billiot has been brought back from Parchman's death row to determine his sanity."

In October, 1982, Billiot was declared competent to stand trial after several hours of testimony during three days by law enforcement personnel, county officials, his attorney, psychiatrists and psychologists.

Two Bay men in Hancock jail, facing burglary charges

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Two Bay St. Louis men are being held in the Hancock County Jail under a $10,000 bond each on charges of burglarizing a doctor's office Thursday.

Peter E. Bell, 23, of 510 St. Francis St., and Ronald Galloway, 18, of Apartment 22, Sycamore Street "practically caught in the act," according to Bay St. Louis Detective Chuck James.

He said Bell and Galloway were spotted by Officer David Seltzer, who was the arresting officer.

Bell and Galloway were arrested on charges of burglary, carrying a concealed weapon and possession of a controlled substance.

The pair allegedly took some cash and a pay roll check from the office.

Old Circuit cases set Tuesday, some may be delayed

By DENA BISNETTE

All of the cases set for Tuesday in Hancock County Circuit Court may not be heard this term, but the oldest cases pending will be acted upon, according to Judge James E. Thomas.

Thomas had asked Circuit Court Administrator Gail Parker to set all cases that are still pending and are based on indictments prior to Jan. 1.

About 23 cases had already been set for Hancock County Circuit Court by Friday afternoon and all of them are planned for Tuesday.

Speculation by Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler last week indicated that the number of cases could go as high as 40 or more once the docket is completed.

Thomas issued his order after Public Defender Clement S. Benvenuti asked him to dismiss a fondling charge against one of his clients, Perry C. Fiegle of Shoreline Park, stating that it had been more than 270 days since the defendant's arraignment.

"There's no way in actuality to get all cases tried within 270 days after arraignment unless I can increase the staff of the judge's office, or unless I can get other judges in here to help us out," he said at the time.

A state law requires trial within 270 days of arraignment.

Thomas explained Friday that orders carrying the cases over to the next docket can satisfy the rule, particularly since any cases left over at the end of this week will be the newer cases.

He said he set them in order of oldest first, with three exceptions.

Two of the exceptions are cases being handled by former Hancock County Public Defender William Frisbie, who is now public defender in Washington County.

Those are set first, followed by a murder case that the judge placed high on the docket due to the charge involved.

The 29 cases, not necessarily in the order in which they will be heard, include:

—Thiet Troung Nguyen, arraignment and plea, armed robbery;

—Kenneth B. Cassard Jr., revocation of probation, attempted burglary;

—James Mayfield Jr., motion for new trial, fondling;

—Oliver T. Seal, trial, possession of a controlled substance with intent;

—Zack Ernest Blackwell, trial, sexual battery;

—Perry C. Fiegle, pre-trial and trial, fondling, carried over from March 10;

—Donald W. Hodges, call, rape;

—William Douglas Martin, sentencing, driving under the influence;

—Eric Clark, trial, multiple count charges including two counts of possession of controlled substances, carried over from March 10;

—Brian Kerry Acker Farve, trial, possession of controlled substance with intent;

—Ricky Norman, trial, grand larceny;

—Laurice V. Cox, trial, sexual battery;

—Jack Berry, motions, carrying concealed weapon after conviction of a felony;

—Roland P. Rieux, trial, false pretense;

—Dennis C. Degan, trial, DUI;

—James Viera, trial, DUI;

—Terry Lewis Coleman, trial,

murder;

—Richard Allen Hall, trial, sexual battery;

—Grayling J. Wilkerson, trial, multiple count charges including two counts of burglary of a dwelling;

—Michael R. Hutchinson, trial,

aggravated assault;

—Anthony C. Garrett Sr., trial,

multiple count charges including attempted sexual battery, grad larceny auto and grand larceny;

—Gerald Clary, plea, driving under the influence; and —Billy G. Pitolo, plea, possession of controlled substance.

Also included on the docket are six civil cases.

Kidnapping suspect arrested in N.O.

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A New Orleans man was charged Friday with kidnapping a woman in Hancock County the day before Mardi Gras.

Her body was later found near the exchanges of Interstate 10, 12 and 59 in Louisiana.

Circuit Judge James Thomas issued a warrant Thursday for Cyril Melton, 26, of New Orleans which charged him with kidnapping of Majorie Lee Cox, 35, of Highlands, N.C. at the intersection of I-10 and Highway 603 on February 15, 1988, Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Saturday.

Melton was arrested in New Orleans Friday by FBI Agents, Hancock Criminal Investigator Nathan Hoda and Mississippi Highway Patrol Investigator Randy Sibley.

Cox had attended a New Orleans Mardi Gras celebration with a male companion, Larry Ross, 39, of Bremerton, Wash., and a Gulfport couple who were not involved in the incident, before she was kidnapped at the Highway 603-Kiln exit of I-10.

Cox and Ross got separated from the Gulfport couple they had travelled with in the Bourbon Street area of New Orleans.

Cox and Ross accepted a ride with a man driving a 1980 or 1981 Buick Skylark. The man, who claimed to be a cab driver, took them to where the vehicle they had shared with the other couple had been parked, and offered to give them a ride back to Gulfport when they found the car gone.

The driver got off the interstate at Highway 603 to purchase gas and on returning to the highway complained of being tired. Ross offered to drive and the man stopped at the exit, then let him out of the front seat of the car to exchange drivers.

Ross told authorities that as soon as he stepped out of the car, the driver sped off with Cox asleep in the back seat.

Federal kidnapping charges, are also faced by Melton, Peterson said and he is now being held in the Orleans Parish jail.

An autopsy showed that Cox died of multiple injuries consistent with being struck by a vehicle, Peterson said.

Extradition proceedings will begin to have Melton returned to Hancock County, Peterson stated.

'Beautiful Bodies' contests featured at Oyster Festival

Beautiful bodies will win cash prizes and trophies in the Mr. Physique and Miss Bikini contest to be held at the 11th Annual Oyster Festival on Easter Sunday, April 3, at Point Cadet Plaza, in Biloxi.

The Mr. Physique contest will begin at 6 p.m. A panel of judges will select the best built body and award trophies and cash prizes of $200 for first place; $100 for second; $50 for third; and $25 for fourth.

The winner of the Miss Bikini contest, which follows the Mr. Physique contest, will receive a $100 cash prize. Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third places.

Both contests are free and open to anyone 17 years of age or older. There will be no registration, but contestants should arrive at the festival site at least 30 minutes before the contest begins.

The Mr. Physique and Miss Bikini contests are two of many activities planned for the three-day Oyster Festival, Apr. 1-3. A new Oyster Festival attraction this year will be the Oyster Egg Hunt for children under 12 on Easter Sunday, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

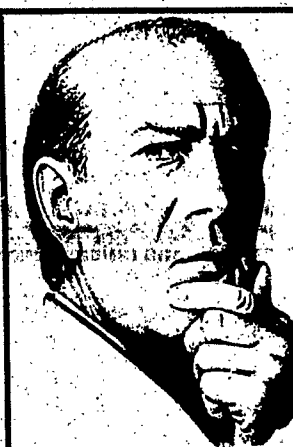

Adults can compete in oyster eating and oyster shucking contests on Sunday or a Texas Two-Step Contest on Friday night. Girls, boys and adults can compete in the oyster sack races, oyster spoon races and three-legged races on Saturday.

The Oyster Festival will also feature continuous live entertainment and mouth-watering seafood. Festival proceeds benefit the Boys Clubs of the Gulf Coast, Inc., which provides physical and personal development programs for more than 1,200 Coast youth.

Point Cadet Plaza is located off U.S. 90 at the foot of the Biloxi-Ocean Springs Bridge. More information about the festival may be obtained by calling the Boys Club of Biloxi, 374-1231.

Organizations offer assistance to potential Hancock voters

By EDGAR H. PEREZ
Chairpersons involved in a voter registration drive in Hancock County are urging non-registered residents to seek help if needed for transportation to the Courthouse to register.

Persons needing assistance with transportation or the registration process may call Clarence Harris of Waveland, Hancock County Branch NAACP, treasurer, 467-7043; Geraldine Lang of Bay St. Louis, president of Hancock County Concerned Citizens Organization, 467-9586; Alonzo Daniels of Bay St. Louis, member, Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee, 467-3043; Charles Johnson, Bay St. Louis city councilman, 467-8482; Marilyn Williams of Bay St. Louis, NAACP branch president, 467-2464; or Melvin Keys of Bay St. Louis, 467-5654.

"We are urging the non-registered citizens of Hancock County to stand up and be counted in the all-important presidential, senate and congressional elections coming up in November," Lang said.

"We hope to add at least 100 new names to the voter rolls before November," Lang added.

She said plans are being made to conduct Saturday registrations at the Courthouse and to take the registration books to selected locations in the county to facilitate registration by persons who work during the week or who otherwise may have trouble getting to the Courthouse.

Voter registration for the Nov. 8 General Election is currently being conducted by Hancock County Circuit Court Clerk Pam Metzler's office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Persons who were not registered at least 30 days prior to the recent March 8 Super Tuesday Primary Election will not be eligible to vote in the March 29 runoff contests which resulted from the primaries.

"Registration is closed for the March 29 Runoff Election," Metzler added.

Downtown Merchants plan Cajun Night Concert at city park

The Downtown Merchants Association will sponsor a Cajun Night Concert at the City Hall Park in Bay St. Louis on Saturday, April 9 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Singing, dancing, food and beverages will be featured.

"Come and enjoy, it's a free concert," said Tyson McMahon, association president.

The 'Laissez Faire' Cajun Band will be featured in the concert which is underwritten by Bay Technical Associates and McMahon Realty.

The association's last outdoor concert on the City Hall grounds featuring the U.S. Navy Show Band attracted some 600 people.

McMahon also reported the association's annual Beachfront Festival is scheduled for the first Sunday in June, June 5.

"We are looking forward to another great festival. At the time of the Downtown Merchants Association meeting on Feb. 21 it was decided that Main Street will be closed off this year at the old Post Office and booths etc. will only go that far—leaving the arts and crafts, food and entertainment near the beach, thus getting back more to the original concept of a Beachfront Festival," he added.

The downtown Merchants Association encourages everyone to attend and has planned to expect 1500 plus participants.

Anyone interested in arts and crafts or food booths is encouraged to write for an application to the Downtown Merchants Association Beachfront Festival, P.O. Box 121, Bay St. Louis, MS 39424.

Quotables by Cuevas

Spring officially arrived very early this morning, but one could not tell by the weather on Friday or Saturday.

It is going to have to get warm in a hurry for people to really realize Spring is here.

There is still a chance of a frost in the area according to many oldtimers who say chances of frost are not over until the pecan trees begin to bud.

I have also noted many robins are still here and they may be expecting more cold weather.

Myself, I am a warm weather person, winter is not my favorite time of the year for several reasons.

I do not like to have to wear a lot of clothing and I really enjoy the longer days of summertime.

As I have mentioned before, you can talk about the weather, but do nothing to change it.

It is good to see our Hancock County Port and Harbor Commissioners are moving right along with plans for constructing a railroad car wash at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

When in operation the facility will mean more income for the commission and will also provide a service needed by industries already at the Industrial Park.

Washing of railroad cars is something I have never really given much thought too, yet it is a service many companies need.

We also note where the Port and Harbor Commission is going to construct a speculation building at Stennis International Airport.

This could be a very big plus in landing more tenants at the facility which would mean an increase in jobs for the area.

Our county could use more job opportunities for residents and we are glad efforts are now really being put forth to seek new industries by our political leaders.

Governor's Weekly Report

BY GOV. RAY MABUS

This week I am writing about the second of two issues that will be the focus of much time and attention during my administration—adult illiteracy.

Julie, my wife, will lead our efforts to combat this enormous problem, which has a profound impact on human lives and the state economy. She also is spearheading our efforts to make day care available to all Mississippi families.

It is hard to believe but true: An estimated 400,000 adult Mississippians—about a third of our adult population—cannot read or write at a functional level.

In human terms, these are citizens who are unable to read road signs, newspapers, directions on medication or even a story to their children.

It also means an entire generation is handicapped when it comes to competing for skilled, good-paying jobs.

Illiterate adults earn as much as 40 percent less than those with a high school diploma. And not only do they earn less, there is very little hope of them ever doing any better without the ability to read or write.

But the need to attack adult illiteracy is not just a matter of social consciousness, it is a matter of economics.

To carry it one step further, combating adult illiteracy is a matter of economic development. The more educated our adult workforce, the better able Mississippi is to attract quality businesses to our state.

In the past, many illiterate

Mississippians could depend on plentiful, unskilled jobs. But the national and world economies have changed. Now, many foreign countries such as Taiwan and Korea can provide cheaper labor, robbing us of the kind of jobs that have bolstered our state economy in the past.

Mississippi must continue to encourage job training and retraining programs to help keep our citizens employed. But that is not enough when so many of our adults are unable to read and write.

But what else can state government do?

Currently, less than 30 of Mississippi's 82 counties have programs to combat adult illiteracy. They are financed largely by federal funds. We need to see if such programs can be expanded to all our counties.

There also is much that private business can do to help our adults learn to read and write. Many companies are helping with their money and expertise, but we must strive for ways to get the entire business community more involved in fighting adult illiteracy.

Julie is working now to identify the scope of the adult illiteracy problem and all the possible solutions. You will be hearing much more from her on this.

Getting adult illiteracy under control means more fulfilling, prosperous lives for our citizens and a healthier, more productive Mississippi economy.

TOUR POST OFFICE—Bay St. Louis Postmaster Tom Hill shows St. Clare third grade students how letters are automatically fed through a postage canceling machine on a tour of the new Bay St. Louis Post Office last week. The new facility located on US-90 at Bay St. Louis-Waveland city limits officially opened in mid-January. Hill said tours of the new modern facility are very popular with area students. Delivery routes for Bay St. Louis and Waveland all originate at the Highway 90 facility. Postal service is still offered from the Waveland Post Office on Coleman Avenue and a contract station in downtown Bay St. Louis at North Second Street and deMontuzin Avenue. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

Reader bored by too much news of children's activities, including what they eat for lunch

Dear Editor,
I am a resident of Bay St. Louis and have been reading your paper since day one, since I've been old enough to read!

It certainly has come a very long way. I remember when someone hitting a home run or a picture of some one getting married was front page news.

Those days were surely nice. They were the days of a simple, easy and innocent way of life in one of the best little towns in the U.S.

However, now that progress is here I see things changing. Not to my liking I might add.

I guess we all wish it could be like it was.

I would like to present a suggestion. How about something new in your paper. I notice presently it contains mostly news of children—children involved in sports, children involved in receiving awards, children's lunches.

Don't get me wrong I have nothing against children and I can tell you in all honesty, most of the people I know just do not read most of this because it's just plain boring.

I remember when you used to have a picture from the past.

How delightful that was.

How about doing something from the home for the elderly. There must be thousands of stories stored up in there just waiting to be told.

How about progress being the death of an institution like the old train station or that beautiful little post office on Main St.?

You know I honestly think knowledge of the past can be very much more interesting than the present situation, although present news is important to all of us.

Well, I thank you for listening to me and you will always have my support even if I'm not interested in what children eat for lunch—which is another story. Those lunches really look unhealthy to me. A lot of fat, junk and cholesterol.

Again thank you for listening.

Respectfully
Dianne Schneider

News triggers need for stress pills

To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Dear Editor:

I need a couple of "stress" pills. You need a good proof reader. And, in my opinion, our nation needs a sanity hearing!

I base this statement on the fact that of late I am jittery; that I counted seven errors in 15 inches of copy appearing in The Sea Coast Echo in a single article about 15 inches long!

And from wire reports dateline. Washington read the following and ask yourself if this appears to be a sensible way to spend money:

"Washington.—Sen. William Proxmire gave his 'Golden Fleece' award Wednesday to two government agencies for a $107,000 study that found the sexual performances of Japanese quail improved with practice."

The People's Business

From Mississippi Economic Council

Mississippi is at the economic crossroads.

And the decision as to the direction we move is in the hands of a few Mississippians.

Those Mississippians are members of the state's Legislature. Within a few days House and Senate members will be making a decision on the most critical issue facing business in this state.

The issue is civil justice reform.

If the Legislature enacts effective civil justice reform legislation we can expect Mississippi's economy to gain new life and new energy. The word will go out that Mississippi is back in business.

That means new jobs, new sources of taxes, and improved living for all Mississippians.

If the Legislature rejects effective reform, we can shut down our economic development efforts; we can expect little, if any economic growth.

The problem is, Mississippi's once favorable business climate is being threatened.

Business is operating in Mississippi under a system which has lost its fairness. And, unless we return to equity, existing business cannot prosper and new businesses will not even look our way.

The problems are within the civil justice system.

Under present laws, businesses may be held 100 percent liable for damages even when they may be only minimally responsible for such damages.

Under present law, businesses are being forced to spend thousands of dollars to defend themselves against worthless lawsuits, with few penalties charged against those who bring such frivolous actions.

Under present law, defendants are required to pay penalties for appealing verdicts, while plaintiffs are charged no such fees; this is unfair.

And, under present law, businesses in Mississippi operate under a state statute of limitations which runs six years—two to three times longer than such statutes in other states. This means greater exposure to liability and liability lawsuits for businesses operating in Mississippi than for their competitors in other states.

Already, businesses in Mississippi are being forced to pass up investment opportunities, delay new products and new services, reduce the number of employees, and, in some cases, move operations out of state because of the lack of civil justice reform.

Some 40 other states have already enacted such reforms. Both Louisiana and Alabama enacted reforms last year and both are advertising nationally that they are "open to business."

The Governor of the State of Alabama has said his state's civil justice reforms last year produced immediate results, with some sixty inquiries from businesses interested in moving into the state.

Meanwhile, the Mississippi Legislature has refused for two years now to enact reform legislation.

The decision for civil justice reform must be made by Mississippi's legislators, and it must be made now.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—State Sen. Gene Taylor is worried that his automobile may wear out. Judging from the pace he has been keeping the past couple of months, he might well worry about his body-wearing out.

But perhaps at age 34 and full of energy, a guy can spend a full day taking care of his duties in Jackson as a legislator and still run downstate every day to campaign for the 5th District Congressional seat.

That's what he has been doing since Jan. 5. So far, it has worked rather well for the Bay St. Louis lawmaker, who has movie star good looks.

Taylor came out the leader in a field of six Democratic candidates in the 5th District primary March 8. He now faces District Attorney Glenn White of Hattiesburg in the March 29 Democratic runoff.

Every weekday night after the Senate has adjourned and he has finished attending his committee meetings, Taylor jumps into his car and drives 90 miles to Hattiesburg where he has rented an apartment as a campaign base, and to get a little sleep.

"Little" sleep is about the size of it.

After a couple hours campaigning on the phone each night, Taylor hits the sack and is up at 4 a.m., on his way somewhere out in the district to catch the early morning work shifts at factories and politick with the coffee drinkers at the cafes and truckstops.

Then he jumps into the car again and heads to Jackson to be at the Senate when it convenes at 10 a.m. Often of late, he has had to make it to the state Capitol by 8:30 a.m. for committee meetings.

On weekends Taylor gets home to Bay St. Louis to see his wife and two children (his wife is expecting their third child in May), between getting out on the campaign trail and talking to his own constituents.

Some who have run for other offices while serving in the Legislature have not been so attentive to their legislative duties while campaigning. Why does Gene Taylor punish himself that way?

"It would trouble me campaigning for Congress if I weren't taking care of my duties in the Senate," Taylor says. "I have seen just how disillusioned people are about officeholders, and while I may be going overboard, I'm trying to live up to the expectations of the most demanding constituent.

Taylor is noted around the Legislature as one of two senators—the other Stephen Hale of Moss Point—who had the audacity to file a lawsuit challenging the exercise of powers by Lieutenant Governor Brad Dye under the state constitution. They lost in the state Supreme Court in a ruling that surprised many state government observers.

His role in the Dye case, Taylor says, has cost him no loss of support out on the campaign trail. "I have had 100 percent positive reaction, even in the truck stops and coffee shops around the district."

Contrary to some critics who say that he has become a pariah in the Senate because of the suit, Taylor says he has received campaign contributions from a dozen senators and help from others in making campaign contacts.

A stickler on ethics, Taylor was one of only a handful of lawmakers to vote against a proposed constitutional amendment in 1984 to water down Section 109, the conflict of interest provision in the state constitution. "The people apparently felt the same way, because they defeated it at the polls," he says.

Taylor avoids the endless parties put on for legislators by lobbyists and organizations interested in some particular legislation. His only exception is if a constituent comes up from his senatorial district and personally invites him to a reception. Even then he won't have anything to eat or drink.

In fact, Taylor has a personal regimen of eating only one meal a day while the Legislature is in session. "It's a way of reminding myself that in Flat Top or Pearl-ington there are a lot of poor people," he says.

Taylor issued a challenge for his runoff opponent, White, 34, to follow the same policy as he and devote fulltime to his job as DA while the campaign is underway.

"I haven't had the luxury of getting away from what I am doing," said White. "You can't get too far away from this office." If he ever gets out and campaigns during the day, White said, "I've got to catch up on my work at night or on the weekend."

So goes the Fifth District Democratic race for Congress. A close one, to be sure.

Mississippi Economic Council

A political debate between the Democratic and Republican candidates for the United States Senate will highlight the Mississippi Economic Council's 39th Annual Membership Meeting.

MEC Chairman Kenneth Milam of Jackson made the announcement and added that, in order to accommodate the candidates and the anticipated overflow crowd, the date and location of the meeting have been changed. The meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday, April 14, will now take place on Friday, April 8, at the Trade Mart located on the Mississippi State Fairgrounds in Jackson. The debate will be a feature of the noon luncheon.

The outcome of this race will have a serious impact on our state, so we feel it is very important to let the candidates address the issues before the largest group of business leaders in the state," Milam said.

Secretary of State Dick Molpus and Congressman Wayne Dowdy will face one another in the Democratic Primary, with the winner to take on Congressman Trent Lott in the MEC debate.

Both Lott and Molpus have committed to the Apr. 8 debate, but Dowdy has delayed a commitment pending review of his schedule.

Jack Ussery, DeSoto County bank executive, is serving as chairman of the 1988 Membership Meeting of the Council.

Ussery noted that in addition to meetings of the Council's Board of Directors and Executive Committee, other activities will include a special tribute to Senator John Stennis, who is retiring after 40 years' service.

STORE DESTROYED—Although Asher's Hardware and Grocery on US-90 west of Waveland was destroyed by fire, the owner's home which is immediately behind the store was saved. Volunteer firefighters from BaySide and East Hancock fire departments received mutual aid from the Waveland Fire Department during the fire Sunday night. A strong north wind hampered firefighters efforts to fight the fire from the front of the store and threw flaming debris from the store, across the service road, a ditch, the eastbound lane of US-90 and into the highway's median. Owner Albert Asher said he plans to rebuild as soon as possible and estimates damages in excess of $200,000. (Photo by John Wilkerson)

USM Forum speaker will discuss women's rights

HATTIESBURG—A proponent of women's rights, who thinks women "can't have it all," will be the next featured speaker at the University of Southern Mississippi's University Forum lecture series.

Sylvia Hewlett, an economist and author of the controversial best seller, "A Lesser Life—The Myth of Women's Liberation in America," will speak at 7 p.m. Mar. 22 in Bennett Auditorium on the USM campus.

Through her book—which has been nominated for the Pulitzer Prize—and her lectures, Hewlett has illuminated the aspects of life that make "having it all" and "doing it all" an impossibility for most women in the United States.

She was teaching at Barnard College when she first discovered that the school, which is described by some as a "bastion of women's rights," had no maternity leave, paid or unpaid.

Hewlett had to return to work 10 days after her daughter's birth and found her colleagues would have preferred an "invisible" baby, if any baby at all.

The Barnard and other experiences eventually led Hewlett to investigate the plight of other women across the social and economic strata to determine the causes of problems and to offer common-sense solutions that would afford women in the U.S. the same privileges enjoyed by their European counterparts.

Another University Forum program Apr. 5 will feature exiled South African journalist Donald Woods, whose friendship with black South African leader Steve Biko, is the subject of Richard Attenborough's new movie, "Cry Freedom."

All University Forum events are sponsored by USM and its Honors College. The public is invited at no charge.

For more information, call the USM Honors College at (601) 266-4533.

Hancock County's Bill Kirchem to be inducted in Greater New Orleans Sports Hall of Fame

Bay St. Louis resident Bill Kirchem will be honored Tuesday as he is inducted into the Greater-New Orleans Sports Hall of Fame.

Kirchem, a football star and track champion at Tulane University in the late 1930's, is one of five honorees who will be inducted during the USF&G Sugar Bowl's annual Sports Awards ceremony in the Louisiana Superdome.

Kirchem began his athletic career at Warren Easton High School in the mid-1930's, starring and lettering in football, basketball and track.

He was also All-State lineman in football and 100-yard state track champion.

At Tulane, he lettered three years in football, twice selected as All-SEC tackle, and was a member of Tulane's unbeaten 1939 Sugar Bowl team.

In track, he was Tulane's top sprinter and also captured the SEC hurdle title.

Also during his career at Tulane, the Wave came up without a boxing representative in the heavyweight division one year and Kirchem was asked to fill the void by Coach Claude Simons Sr.

With no previous boxing experience, Kirchem won several heavyweight SEC bouts as he represented Tulane.

Following graduation from Tulane, Kirchem became a teacher/coach in the Orleans Parish Public School system.

During his 30 years there, he became a respected boxing referee, football official and track official.

He currently lives in Bay St. Louis with his wife, Rosemary and is very active in community organizations.

Among the organizations Kirchem is a member are American Legion Post 77, Senior Citizens of Waveland, St. Ann's Catholic Church, Waveland Civic Association, American Association of Retired Persons and the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Students, parents invited to Ole Miss Saturday

UNIVERSITY—Students and parents curious about what life at The University of Mississippi is all about are invited to attend Spring Visit Day on Saturday Mar. 26.

The one-day, Saturday event is sponsored by the Ole-Miss Office of Admissions and gives both students and parents some insight into the broad academic and social opportunities at Ole Miss.

High school juniors and seniors, junior- or community college students and any other prospective transfer students and their parents are welcome at Spring Visit Day. The program begins in the morning and ends in mid-afternoon. All events, including entertainment and a noon picnic, are free.

Dr. Glenn Hopkins, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts and a professor of mathematics at Ole Miss, says students and parents will be exposed to a broad range of academic disciplines and other campus activities.

"We want students and parents to become familiar with what life is like at Ole Miss, how the University operates and what students can expect when they get here," Dr. Hopkins says.

"Many incoming students don't have an idea of what college life is like. We try to give them a small taste of that."

Among the activities planned for Spring Visit Day this year are programs dealing with broad academic areas such as math, health professions and humanities.

Any students or parents who would like more information can write The Office of Admissions, 119 Lyceum, The University of Mississippi, University, MS, 38677, or call (601) 232-7226.

American Association of Retired Persons

Charles Lippian, state legislative committee member, AARP—Region five, Mississippi, presented a current legislative report to officers and committee chairpersons participating in two regional meetings in Biloxi Mar. 7 and in Hattiesburg Mar. 9.

Hosting the meetings was Mrs. Helen Underwood of Carriere, assistant state director. Mrs. Underwood provided information on the ASD and chapter responsibilities, which included the carrying out of procedures of the standing rules of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Underwood emphasized the importance of filing accurate and prompt reports. It is from these reports that the National office can judge the progress of AARP's programs of service to the members, Underwood said.

Underwood discussed the work of the standing committees and their role in making a successful AARP chapter. An exchange of ideas and questions and answers about chapter activities were held at the end of each meeting.

Lippian discussed the progress of House Bill No. 516 which concerned the "Ombudsman" or patient advocate, who would be trained to serve as a community representative in nursing homes. The bill has been amended as a compromise to those both for or against and has passed the Public Health and Welfare and Judiciary "B" committee. It will be placed on the House calendar for consideration. Lippian urged continued support from the AARP and RTA membership and all citizens for this important health advocate legislation.

Lippian reminded the group that Senate Bill 2051 is on the Senate Calendar. This legislation provides for enabling legislation to establish within the Mississippi Public Employees Retirement System a Life and Health Insurance Program for those retirees who are under the State's Retirement System but do not have available such insurance under the system.

Senate Bill No. 2051 would provide this insurance opportunity to present retirees not now covered and to those retirees to be, who are public employees, such as teachers, city and county employees, Lippian said.

Lippian provided information of the Medicare Catastrophic Protection Act in Congress. The Senate Number is H.R. 2470 and the House Number H.R. 2941. The versions are now in conference. The House had earlier approved their bill. The Senate by a vote of 86 to 11 in October of 1987 demonstrated its "commitment also in expanding Medicare coverage of long hospital stays and big doctor bills" The need for health protection and reducing health care costs for citizens is well-known, Lippian cited.

Lippian has provided information in the Pascagoula Public Library on these and other issues, which included names addresses and phone numbers of members of the Mississippi Legislature and the Mississippi Congressional Delegation.

Citizens interested in these and other legislation are encouraged to contact the proper officials in the respective legislative bodies, Lippian emphasized.

Lippian also discussed the "Notch" issue in Congress. "Notch babies," those people born between 1917 and 1921 and whom because of this, receive reduced Social Security benefits," should know too, that there are information sheets and bills on the "Notch" issue in the library also, Lippian said.

AARP Chapters represented at the meeting in Biloxi were No. 1717 Picayune, No. 3936 Stone County, No. 1114 Hancock County, No. pending-Diamondhead, No. 569 Gulf Coast Care, No. 1381 Biloxi Area, and No. 1213 Jackson County.

Attending in Hattiesburg were Chapters No. 475 Hattiesburg, No. 1431 Prentiss, No. 3970 Marion County, No. 2559 Mt. Olive, (New)-Southwest Mississippi, No. 3802 Petal, and No. 4016 Pine Belt.

Maxine Payne, Hattiesburg, who is the state director, participated in the meeting in Hattiesburg.

USM features "Greater Tuna" production March 25-27

HATTIESBURG—What do Vera Carp, Petey Fisk, Didi and R.R. Snively, the Bumiller family and Yippy the dog have in common? They're all residents of Tuna—Texas's third smallest town—and they can be seen Mar. 25-27 as the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Theatre and Dance presents its Showcase production of "Greater Tuna."

In this outrageous comedy, the audience will meet 20 of Tuna's most interesting citizens, including: Didi Snively, owner of Didi's House of Used Weapons; local radio show hosts Thurston Wheelis and Arles Struvie; Bertha Bumiller, president of the BBB (Better Baptist Bureau); Bertha's delinquent son, Stanley; Petey Fisk, local animal rights advocate; and 14 more delightfully eccentric characters.

All 20 characters in the play are portrayed by only two actors—Marty Kemmer and David Moore. The actors, along with costume shop foreman Myra Bullington and crew, manage some 43 costume changes during the production.

"It's a challenge, but that's part of the magic we're going to create right in front of the audience's eyes," Bullington said.

The play is directed by Moore and USM faculty member Dr. Judith Midyett, who has compiled a wide range of professional directing and acting credits in theatres from New York to Texas. Moore, a graduating MFA theatre major from Milledgeville, Ga., has acted in and directed a number of productions while at USM—including "The Foreigner," "Deathtrap," and last fall's "Blue Plate Special."

"We've been very lucky in that so many of our friends became excited about the (Greater Tuna) project and volunteered their talents," Moore added.

Kemmer, a Gulfport sophomore, took audiences by storm last semester with his sensitive portrayal of Joe in "Come Back to the Five and Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean," and with his hilarious characterization of Euphides in "The Birds."

"Tuna" will be staged at 8 p.m. Mar. 25-26 and at 2 p.m. Mar. 27. All performances will be held in the Hartwig Arena Theatre on the USM campus. Tickets for all three productions are $2. No reservations are required.

For more information, call the USM Department of Theatre and Dance at (601) 266-4994.

Buttermilk: Southern baking secret

Ever wonder why Grandma's biscuits and cornbread turn out moist every time and have that great distinct taste? She may not want to give away her secret, but it's probably buttermilk.

Southern bakers have long recognized the benefits of baking with buttermilk—the tangy taste and extra moist texture. Nothing else can provide the special flavor buttermilk does to biscuits, cornbread, fluffy pancakes and other Southern favorites.

For many, the thought of buttermilk evokes memories of making butter the old-fashioned way. Churning butter was no easy task, but the result was well worth it—fresh homemade butter and the remaining fluid called buttermilk.

Colonial homemakers brought to America the chore of buttermaking—churning a cool cream in a deep wooden tub with a long-handled dasher. Milkfat particles, or butter, separated from the fluid, which was drained off for use as a beverage or cooking ingredient. The inventive homemakers discovered many ways to utilize the baking potential of the buttermilk.

Despite the flavor and moistness buttermilk adds to cooking, it is low in fat and calories. The fat goes into the butter when it separates from the milk. And for those who count calories, that's good to know. Buttermilk is also nutritious, supplying substantial amounts of protein and calcium.

Today, buttermilk is made by adding a special culture to milk, usually skim milk which contains less than 0.5 percent fat. Churning is no longer necessary because the culture added to the milk creates the same characteristic tang of churned buttermilk.

Most buttermilk sold in the U.S. is made from skim milk and contains only 90 calories in eight ounces, as compared to whole milk which contains 150 calories. Low-fat milk (2 percent milk fat) has 120 calories in eight ounces. Manufacturers sometimes add flecks of butter to buttermilk, which increases fat content slightly, but it's still generally less than 1 percent milk fat. Be sure to check the buttermilk labels on grocery shelves for nutritional information on fat and calorie content.

To catch up on a few facts about cooking with buttermilk, read the following tips:

► Buttermilk will keep for as long as two weeks after purchase. Its acidity retards growth of spoilage bacteria. The date stamped on the carton is when the buttermilk should be withdrawn from retail sale, but does allow additional storage time in the consumer's home.

► Although the finished product may not be as flavorful, when there's no buttermilk on hand and a recipe calls for it, the following substitution can be made: In place of 1 cup of buttermilk, add enough regular milk to 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice to make 1 cup. Then let it stand 5 minutes.

► For Southern-style fried chicken: Dip or soak chicken pieces in buttermilk, roll in seasoned flour and fry. Serve with Buttermilk Biscuits.

Buttermilk Biscuits
2 cups sifted Martha White Self-Rising Flour

1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup Snowdrift shortening
1 cup buttermilk
Melted butter

Preheat oven to 425°F. Sift together flour, sugar and soda. With pastry blender or two knives, cut shortening into flour mixture until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Stir in buttermilk. Knead dough on floured board or cloth 10 times or until smooth. Roll to ½ inch thickness and cut into 2½ inch rounds with floured biscuit cutter.

Place biscuits, touching on ungreased baking sheet. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Brush with melted butter immediately after removing from oven. Makes 8 to 10 biscuits.

Note: If using Martha White All-Purpose Flour, sift 1 tablespoon baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt with dry ingredients.

Buttermilk Cornbread

Makes 1 9-inch skillet, 1 9-inch square pan, 12 muffins or 16 corn sticks.

1 egg
1½ cups buttermilk
¾ cup melted shortening or vegetable oil

2 cups Martha White Self-Rising Corn Meal Mix

Preheat oven to 450°F. Grease skillet, pan or molds; place in oven to heat. Beat egg in mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients; stir until well blended. Pour batter into prepared pan or molds.

(Fill muffin cups or corn stick pans ¾ full.) Bake 15 to 18 minutes for muffins and sticks or 20 to 25 minutes for skillet and pan.

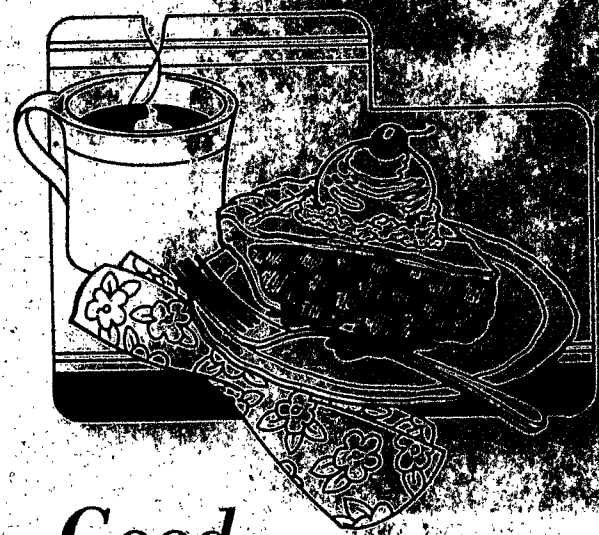

For a wonderful treat, try this next recipe for Buttermilk Pie. Although buttermilk is known for its tangy taste, this pie has a more delicate taste. Buttermilk Pie is similar to Chess Pie in its appearance and creamy texture.

Buttermilk Pie
1½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons Martha White Self-Rising Corn Meal Mix
3 eggs, lightly beaten

½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine, melted
½ cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
Preheat oven to 350°F. Combine sugar and corn meal. Add eggs, butter, buttermilk and vanilla; blend well. Pour into pie shell. Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until set. Cool in pan on wire rack.

For additional cornbread recipes or answers to your questions about baking with buttermilk, write to: The Martha White Kitchen, Dept. 6-5, P.O. Box 56, Nashville, TN 37202.

Good Food Buys

Make desserts special with meals

Desserts always have had an important place in menus and are an accepted part of American meals. Emphasis now is on less sugar, so many people are trying to omit dessert or at least cut down on the amount they eat.

The key is careful meal planning. Don't plan your meal around a desert. Rather, let the dessert complement the other foods in the meal. If the meal is a light main course, the dessert may be a heavy one, such as pie, cake or pudding. When you serve a heavy meal, plan a light dessert or fruit. Gelatin, cookies, sherbet or cheese. Go easy on the sherbet because, although considered a light dessert, it usually has as many calories as ice cream.

Plan the dessert to always add either texture, color or flavor to the meal. It should also be appealing. Whether your dessert will be plain or fancy depends on your time and talents as a cook and on the type of meal and the occasion.

Desserts offer an excellent opportunity for improving the diet of poor eaters in your family. A little thought and planning can make desserts nutritious and appealing. Use milk, eggs and fruits for a delicious and nutritious ending to any meal.

Most everyone could use extra amounts of milk and eggs in their diet. Custards provide a good way to meet this need. Serve a baked custard or a soft (sometimes called boiled) custard.

You can make fruit desserts from fresh, canned or frozen fruits. Choose the form of fruit that is the most economical. Use combinations of fruits and add attractive garnishes like chopped nuts, whipped cream or a sprig of mint. Cooked sauces, custards, pastries and dumplings in an old fashioned fruit cobbler add variety and taste appeal.

Time-saving desserts are important to busy homemakers. When you know you won't have time to prepare a desert, you can plan to prepare it hours or days in advance. You may want to choose any of a number of commercially prepared desserts.

With imagination you can improve on these desserts, so they will be more nutritious and have the same like touch. Remember, the more you pay for these desserts, the more you pay for the food as well as the service that went into preparing it for the market.

Pies provide a wide variety of crusts, fillings and toppings. They can be as plain or as fancy as you like.

Cakes are classified as butter and sponge cakes. Pound cakes, fruit cakes, jam cakes, spice cakes and cakes are all butter cakes. All food and drug stores carry a wide variety of cakes.

Gelatin desserts are kind for calorie counters. But, with their topping and fruit, they go well with gelatin desserts.

Desserts for your family can be delicious, nutritious and economical. But you don't need to spend a lot of money to make them special.

BAKERS' SECRET—These three traditional buttermilk products all have something in common—the tangy taste and moistness of buttermilk. Featured clockwise from the left, are: Buttermilk Cornbread Wedges, Buttermilk Biscuits, Buttermilk Cornbread Sticks and Buttermilk Pie.

BY KATY MC GUIRE CAIRE

At first thought, you might suppose that chili is a Mexican dish, but not so—it's a North American dish of Texas and Southwest origin.

Credit for its birth as a culinary mainstay is largely given to some unknown chuckwagon cook long years ago on the trail.

Faced with a camp full of hungry cowboys and an almost empty larder—some beans and cornbread and not-so-fresh beef—the "cookie" improvised a stew of sorts, and tossed hot peppers into it and stirred it all together.

When the range riders lined up for seconds, the cook was amazed and kept on cooking up his chili on the trail! The nation as a whole got its first taste of chili, we are told, at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893, at San Antonio's "Chilley Stand."

(To clear up any confusion in terms, Chili is the dish and Chile is the pepper. Chili powder is typically a combination of chile peppers, cumin, salt, cayenne and oregano.)

And, of course, there are as many ways to make chili as there are chili makers. Some frown at the thought of adding red beans to their chili, others find the chili incomplete without them. Some insist upon adding only water as the liquid, others swear by tomatoes and tomato sauce.

Some like their chili inoffensively bland, others, such as I, prefer to "hottin it up" to the limit.

My father used to insist upon chunks of beef round rather than ground meat for his chili, and one friend of mine tosses chunks of avocado into her chili at the last minute.

I like to eat avocado slices along with my chili at times, as the creamy blandness of the avocado is a delightful contrast to the fiery heat of my chili!

Some like cornbread with their chili, others like to crumble crackers into a bowl of chili. It's also tasty over scrambled or halved hard-boiled eggs, or in that standby of hurried cooks, "Chili Mac," macaroni, and cheese and chili all mixed together and topped, with cheese and baked—and so on and so on.

And, I always make extra chili, for I like chili on my hot dogs—not the canned hot dog sauce, please! I freeze the chili either in ice trays (then store the frozen chili cubes) or in "blobs" on a cookie sheet—very handy when one wants one or two hot dogs and chili, or a bit of chili seasoning for some dish or other.

I like my chili beanless—but, regardless of what the purists say, the beans, like the tomatoes, are an inexpensive and tasty way to "stretch out" a pot of chili, and I must confess that I have often done so through the years, when extras showed up at the table!

In fact, when my sons were growing up, I often made a huge pot of chili for Sunday supper—with extra cans of tomatoes and red beans on hand for swift stirring into the chili—not as meaty as one could wish, but tasty nevertheless, and a big help, for we never, never knew how many teenagers would show up at the supper table. So, here's

OLD IRON POT CHILI

(That's how I make my chili, in an old cast iron Dutch Oven that's older than I am!) And, a word of caution, go easy on the chili powder and hot peppers at first. You can always add more—but you can't take the heat out, once it's in! And, I make mine hotter for myself than this.

(It's really too easy to write as a recipe!)

1½ lbs. ground round
1 large onion, chopped
3 Tbsp. oil or shortening or butter
4 Tbsp. chili powder
Pepper, salt

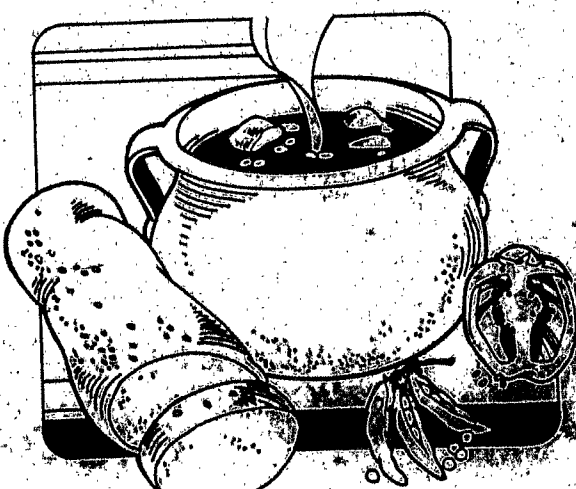

Cayenne pepper, hot pepper sauce as desired

1 can tomatoes, undrained (16 oz.)

1 can tomato sauce (6 oz.)
Heat the oil, brown the meat, pour off the grease. Add the onions and cook till soft. Add the tomatoes and sauce and seasonings, and simmer for a half hour or so, adding more seasoning as needed.

If desired, add leftover red beans or two cans of red (kidney) beans, and mix it all up—and enjoy! (Six or more servings)

PIECE OF NOSTALGIA

An Organ grinder and monkey promotion will be in Edgewater Mall from Mar. 15 - Apr. 2.

The monkeys accept coins from shoppers then take the coins to their "banks" returning to shake hands with the customer as a "thank you."

The monkeys do other tricks when given dollar donations. The monkeys and their owners David & Barbara Ogden of Michigan travel throughout the country entertaining the public at shopping malls and state fairs.

FIFTH BIRTHDAY—Stephanie Arnold, daughter of Thomas and Bridgett Arnold of Lakeshore, celebrated her fifth birthday Feb. 10 with a "Jem" theme party in her home. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Veillon of Lakeshore and Jack Arnold of Waveland, and the late Betty Arnold.

Hancock Women's Club

The Diamondhead Country Club was the setting for the luncheon meeting and installation of officers of the Hancock Women's Club on Thursday, Mar. 10. There were 39 attending, which included three guests: Norma Edler, Joanne Caselberry, and Sandi Morrison.

The club membership is limited to 40, so two new members, Teresa Bourgeois and Lillian Harnett, were taken into the club to replace two members who had resigned.

Marian Rapp acted as installing officer in the ceremony to install the new officers. They are Lois Cripple, who will be serving her third year as president; Marie Braselman, vice-president; Theda Fischer, secretary; and June Lasker, treasurer. Committee Chairmen who will also serve as board members for the coming year include Irene Johnston, ways and means; Shirley Jones, publicity; Joyce Hasling, telephone; Julia Loup, sunshine; and Norma Dyer, hospitality.

President Cripple, in summing up our activities for the past year, announced that during the past twelve months the club had been able to expend a total of $1,413.90 as donations to various charitable organizations and purchase of Christmas gifts for needy children.

The door prize was won by Irene Johnston.

The monthly Fun and Games day will be held at 11:30 A.M. on Wednesday, Mar. 23 in the special game room provided by Ruth Gallagher at her home, 332 Terrace St., Waveland. Bag lunches will be available and the activity this month will be Po-Ke-No.

Looking ahead, the club's spring yard sale will be held on Saturday, June 4, as usual at the home of Bess Owen, 430 Main St., Bay St. Louis. The next regular meeting will be at the Waveland Library on Thursday, Apr. 14.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The general meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club was called to order by Mrs. Thomas Tompkins, president, on Thursday, March 10 at 2 p.m. at the Garden Center, 114 Leonhard Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Peter Brotmeyer brought a lovely plant, the orange kalanchoe, and said this plant is often called the kalancho. She said this plant is very easy to grow and offered pieces to anyone interested in starting a plant. She also said that this plant comes in a variety of colors, such as pink, yellow and red.

Mrs. Kenneth McKenna chose as her subject on birds the ruby-throated hummingbird, which she said is quite common in Louisiana and Mississippi. Many people design their gardens simply to attract birds and butterflies.

Mrs. Lydia Shultz is showing just such a garden in the Spring Pilgrimage to be held in Waveland and Bay St. Louis on Thursday, April 7.

Mrs. John Holmes gave further information on the Dubuison Dump, which has been very prominent in the news lately. She has made an extensive study on this subject and has enlisted the aid of the mayor and other of our statesmen. It seems that there is not much anyone can do at this time to 'Stop the Dump.' However there are several bills before the House at this time, and hopefully there may be a solution of some sort soon.

Our registrar, Mrs. Henry Brokmeier, announced that there were 41 members present and several guests. One of our guests, Mrs. Natalie Lassere, expressed a desire to join the garden club. Welcome, Natalie.

It was no nice to see our past registrar, Mrs. William Ose. Idus has recently moved out of Waveland and has been busy for the past several months getting settled in her new home. We have all missed you, Idus, and hope you will be able to continue attending our meetings.

The Garden of the Month award for Waveland was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bunol, 206 Vacation Lane, and in Bay St. Louis to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Necaise, 146 Melody Lane.

Mrs. George Baud announced that a tree had been planted at the new post office on Hwy. 90. Plans are being made to plant several more trees in and around Waveland in keeping with the Centennial Celebration. We can all help in the beautification by just trying to keep our beaches and roadways clean.

The Commercial Beautification Plaque was placed at Evergreen Florist which is a real showplace at this time of the year.

Mrs. Thomas Murphree introduced Darlene Underwood who had 'Tips for a Happy Easter.' She called on Mrs. Toodlum Byrd who showed a lovely handmade basket and a tray of handmade Easter chocolates which were later enjoyed by the members.

Mrs. Bea Snider showed what can be done with a simple wicker basket and beautiful azaleas and greenery from her yard. Her basket served as a centerpiece for the buffet table where Mrs. David Los Calzo and her hostesses had prepared a feast of goodies.

Two-day conference to feature Fr. Martin

Father Joseph Martin, renowned speaker on chemical dependency, will appear on the Mississippi Gulf coast, Mar. 22 and 23.

The two day conference, hosted by Keesler Air Force Social Actions Program and the Navy Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program is co-sponsored by Parkside Lodge of Mobile and Gulf Oaks Hospital and Clinic of Biloxi.

Father Martin, ordained as a priest for the Archdiocese of Baltimore on May 22, 1948, has taught at St. Joseph's College in Mountain View, California and St.

Charles College in Cantonville, Maryland.

With the permission of his superiors, he worked full time in the Division of Alcoholism Control, State of Maryland as lecturer and educator. He has free lanced as a consultant on alcoholism since the Fall of 1973, during which time he graduated from the Rutgers-Summer School of Alcohol Studies.

Father Martin, who has lectured and provided consultancy services for the Army, Navy and Air Force both in the United States and abroad, has lectured for the State Government alcohol programs and for various rehabilitation centers in all fifty (50) states. Father Martin authored the book "No Laughing Matter" published in 1982 by Harper and Row.

His lecture and film, "Chalk Talk on Alcohol" has become the principle educational vehicle on alcoholism for most branches of the Federal Government, especially the armed services as well as in industry, medical facilities, hospital rehabilitation centers and state alcoholic programs.

It is this presentation with which he will begin the conference at Smith Memorial Theatre, Navy Submarine Base, on Tuesday, Mar. 22 at 7 p.m. Father Martin will begin the second day at 9 a.m. at the Keesler Air Force Base, with a 10 a.m. presentation on "Symptoms of Substance Abuse" followed by a 2 p.m. lecture on "Spiritual Aspects of Alcoholism."

All presentations will be performed live and are free to the public. Endorsed by the Mississippi Association of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors.

Persons wanting further information should call 865-2488 (Gulfport), 377-2740 (Biloxi), (205) 633-0900 (Mobile), or 1-800-624-6872 from anywhere in the S.E. United States.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

American Legion Auxiliary

On Thursday, March 3, the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 139 held their regular monthly sing-a-long at the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement home.

Mrs. Lena Mae Onstait played the piano and Mrs. Roslyn Weathers led the singing while Mrs. Oris Planchard encouraged the residents to join in the activity. Everyone had a good time and Mrs. Geisenderfer, director of nursing, was delighted to see the participation of the residents.

On Monday, March 14, under the guidance of the second vice-president, Mrs. Hazel Wohlschlegel, the regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary Unit 139 was opened followed by the advance of the colors by color-bearers Beatrice Ladner and Patricia Gillan.

This was followed by the prayers of the chaplain, Mrs. Roslyn Weathers. Mrs. Wohlschlegel then led the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Preamble. Mrs. Danita Scianna, secretary, read the roll call of officers, then read the minutes of the previous meeting which was followed by the treasurer's report given by Mrs. Anna Brehm.

The reports of the various committees were given by the chairman and everyone was pleased to learn that our unit is doing well. Mrs. Bobby Tomlinson, chairlady of the Spring Fling, reported that the plans were progressing nicely and the tickets were ready. This event will take place on April 22.

Mrs. Lou Wilkerson, education chairlady, gave her report on education, and how the search was on for outstanding students in this area and the rewards of the promise of a scholarship for such.

Mrs. Roslyn Weathers spoke on the sing-a-long and how much the residents of the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement Home look forward to these visits each month and the pleasure and inner satisfaction you receive in doing this event each month.

The Auxiliary Juniors are selling tickets for a meatball and spaghetti dinner for Apr. 8. There will be take-out orders as well as tickets at the door.

On Tuesday, March 15, the American Legion Auxiliary sponsored an ice cream and cake party at the VA Hospital in Gulfport. The volunteers were Mmes. Hazel Wohlschlegel and Roslyn Weathers and Mr. Roland Wohlschlegel. The veterans look forward to these visits and enjoy the 'goodies'.

On Wednesday, March 16, under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 and the guidance of Mrs. Hazel Wohlschlegel, VACS chairlady, the regular monthly picnic was held in the recreation hall. Among the volunteers were Mmes. Hazel Wohlschlegel, Phyllis Moran, Charmella Boyd, Mamie Carverand, Rose Jaquillard, and Messrs. Roland Wohlschlegel and Revus King. There were 155 veterans present at this event. Messrs. Emmett Johnston and Vic Greene entertained the veterans with their music while they were dining.

Diamondhead Garden Club

Members of the Diamondhead Garden Club were shown a film entitled 'A Trip to Ship Island' by Mrs. Gayle Bishop who is with the Gulf Island National Seashore. Of much interest are the details of all that concerns this historic landmark.

Mrs. Rose Hobbs reported that the Diamondhead Garden Club has been asked by the manager of the Property Owners Organization to continue the process of landscaping around the Community Center, which she is to oversee. The son of one of the club members, David Eckert, will earn his Eagle Badge for Boy Scouts by becoming involved with the landscaping as he pursues his project, the planting of trees in the area.

Mrs. Jackie Toca said the Stop the Dump caravan of cars will leave Diamondhead at 8 a.m. Friday, March 18 to proceed to the Stop the Dump protest at the Gulfport Courthouse.

Mrs. Grace Finley read a letter from charter member, Mrs. Shirley Templett, and subsequently moved that Mrs. Templett be made an honorary member. Mrs. Linda Eckert, Pilgrimage chairman for Diamondhead, and Mrs. Ethel Evans, Pilgrimage chairman for the Welcome Center, asked for volunteers to serve as hostesses at NSTL and the Welcome Center the afternoon of Monday, Apr. 4.

A source of concern is developing in the Diamondhead area which is of particular interest to the garden club members. The indiscriminate cutting down of trees on lots where new homes are to be constructed constantly continues. The garden club therefore has drafted a resolution to stop this practice, and the membership unanimously voted that it should be sent to the Purcell Company whose responsibility it is to stop such practices.

Mrs. Marion Kollasch, Litter Control chairman, suggested that all golfers make a special effort to see that all litter is picked up as they play the course. Apr. 1 has been designated 'Diamondhead's Clean-up Day for the Pilgrimage'.

Mrs. Ann Neff, program chairman, announced the following important dates: March 23, cruise on the Cajun Queen; March 30, workshop by Russell Papania on Floral Arrangements; Apr. 13, trip to Honey Island Swamp. Mention was also made of the convention of the Garden Clubs of Mississippi at Meridian Apr. 1, 2 and 3.

All members were urged to attend the 'Funny Faces Flower Show' to be given at the home of Mrs. Dixie Ogden, 'Beneshewa' from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, Mar. 18.

The horticulture tips for March of immediate interest to gardeners were given by Mrs. Faye Johnson. The Golf Course Yard of the Month award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bybee. The Garden of the Month award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Murray Palmer.

With women in mind

Chronic diseases are teleconference topic

By Ralph J. Ballew
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Hypertension, diabetes, obesity, cancer and cardiovascular heart disease are chronic diseases with no known cure.

Thirty to 50 percent of the population suffer from one or more chronic diseases, which usually appear during middle age and continue for life.

A recent national teleconference, sponsored by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the University of Georgia, was held in Athens, Ga. to address the causes and preventions of chronic diseases, and the role women can play in minimizing them.

Women suffer from chronic diseases more than men, and they have a longer life expectancy and face a greater possibility of getting a chronic disease.

"Drugs are available for communicable and infectious diseases," said Dr. Albert Carr, chief of the section of hypertension at the Medical College of Georgia in Augusta. "Chronic disease control is almost entirely related to reducing the risk factors related to life style and the environment."

Carr said individuals can change their eating and drinking habits, they can start and continue an exercise program, and they can avoid smoking.

Hypertension, one of the diseases discussed during the teleconference, is caused by factors that work to make the blood pressure in the body too high.

"Hypertension causes strokes, kidney failure and heart damage," Carr said. "The exact reason for blood pressure going too high is not known, but the major risk factors are alcohol, too much body weight and cigarette smoking."

Carr said nervousness and anxiety will make hypertension worse, and the disease seems to be inherited. Hypertension is higher in men than in women, but drugs don't seem to help women as much.

The preventive measures recommended by Carr include weight reduction, sodium reduction, elimination of cigarettes and alcohol, and an exercise program that includes brisk walking.

Diabetes, another chronic disease of women, means too much sugar in the blood. But, the disease is much more complicated than that. With diabetes, the metabolism of all the fuels consumed by the body does not work properly.

Dr. Mac Stachura, chief of metabolic and endocrine diseases at the Medical College of Georgia in Augusta, said diabetes is more prevalent in women, and pregnancy and diabetes interact.

"Diabetic women do become pregnant," he said. "Too many women with a predisposition toward diabetes become pregnant and the disease comes to the forefront. Because elevated sugar can affect the baby, it is important that this be recognized."

"When insulin was discovered it was thought the drug would control the disease and diabetes would go away," Stachura said. "But insulin is only a tool in treatment, not a cure."

Stachura said weight control and exercise could postpone development of this chronic disease.

The disease obesity is defined as too much body fat, but we can't really know what "too much" fat is, said Dr. Carolyn Berdanier, head of food and nutrition at the University of Georgia.

"We have established ideal body weights, but it's not the same for all people," she said. "Being 20 pounds overweight is probably not a health risk."

"Crash diets are not good," she said. "A crash diet causes a physiological stress on the body, making it more efficient. That's the reason many people will lose 20 pounds, then gain back 21 pounds."

She said the body seems to have a "set point" or certain amount of fat that it wants to carry around.

"Don't set impossible goals in losing weight," she said. "Try to keep the weight you have, but don't gain any more."

The chronic disease, cardiovascular heart disease, is the number one killer—200,000 women will die this year!

Dr. Mary Jane Jesse, senior vice president of the National Heart Association in Dallas, Texas, said cholesterol level is a risk factor but not a direct cause of the disease.

"Cholesterol is a fatty substance carried around in the blood stream by protein," she said. "The bad cholesterol, called LDL (low density) can cause an obstruction and shut off the food supply from the blood stream."

Jesse said the three greatest risk factors associated with cardiovascular heart disease are elevated cholesterol levels, hypertension and smoking. Other risk factors are diabetes, obesity and stress.

Dr. Alice MacMahon, director for the Center for Women's Medicine at Florida Hospital in Orlando, Fla., said in a discussion on cancer, that breast cancer and lung cancer are the most common types of cancer among women.

"Early detection is extremely important in controlling breast cancer," MacMahon said. "And women can prevent lung cancer mostly by not smoking.

"Cervix cancer can be detected with the pap smear," she added. "Women 20 or older should have pap smears as recommended by their doctor. Women age 50 and older should have the test every year."

MacMahon gave these recommendations for lowering the risks from cancer: cut out tobacco; use alcohol in moderation and never in combination with tobacco; select a diet low in fat and high in fiber; and observe safety in the workplace.

WHEN IT COMES TO DOUBLE COUPONS, IT MAY BE YOU WHO GETS CLIPPED.

It stands to reason somebody has to make up for the cost of those double coupons. Guess who it is? You — by paying more for everything else at those stores. Delchamps knows you'd rather have a lower total food bill than double coupons. Which is why we have Everyday Minimum Pricing — absolutely lower pricing on every item, everyday.
